It was thought best to drop the account of Annie McCloud as the decision of the higher court had not been given and it was very uncertain who to look to for reimbursement.

The case of Thomas Glines was settled by the towns of Bethel and Sumner paying $30.00 each, which was agreed by all parties interested to be better than a law suit.

FELLOW TOWNSMEN:

It is due to you that you should fully understand the conditions pertaining to your schools. Our schools at present are self-supporting according to the laws of our State.

We have at the present time eleven school rooms in our town which are under the instructions of teachers and each school is well attended, showing that there is a good interest in our school work.

Three years ago there were only six schools of the proper amount of scholars to institute a lawful school. This shows the increase of our work and that our schools are on the increase.

Very few people in town have any adequate idea of the amount of work and detail that is necessary in conducting the school work and school finance of this town or of any town of its population. Many of the details are very trying and during the last year several things have come up that required the best of judgement. One thing I will say, if parents would send their children to school and let the teacher run the school instead of trying to run it themselves our schools would be much more prosperous.

It seems to me that some parents ought to go to school awhile and learn discipline and then teach it to their children. I have endeavored to get the most for the money spent and give everybody a square deal while trying to protect the rights of the town. If I have been moderately successful I am satisfied and for what has been left undone or not wisely accomplished I accept your criticism and excuse myself in this, that my errors are for lack of judgement.

I believe our schools have been gradually improving since I assumed office and I know that the last year has made an improvement on the last two years I have served you before.

In our schools we have employed eleven teachers each term, whose marked success have given credit to both themselves and to our town, as several have held a State certificate, which shows that they were well qualified for the position.

It is necessary that we have more weeks of school in order to accomplish our purpose in our graded schools and to better prepare our scholars for a secondary school.

Your superintendent feels the need once more to call your attention to the two year course of high school studies at Locke's Mills, which in my judgment will be a great help to our town and I sincerely hope that all will give this a careful consideration at our next town meeting.

Respectfully submitted,

A. J. HAYES, Superintendent.
